HEATHER DENNY NAMED TO TOP 20 UNDER 40 BY ENGINEERING NEWS RECORD SOUTHEAST

Raleigh, NC – Heather Denny, President of McDonald York Building Company, was chosen by Engineering News Record for the Top 20 Under 40 list. This notable distinction is given to individuals that are not only under 40 years old, but have proven excellence in industry involvement, community service and contributions to landmark or sustainable projects in the Southeast region. The entire article can be seen at:

The ENR Southeast's Top 20 Under 40 article notes that Denny has worked her way up from Estimator to President in 16 years. Denny was named President of McDonald York Building Company in 2010, becoming the first woman to hold this position in a construction company in the Triangle, and the first non-family member in the history of the company. The article also notes her dedication to achieving positive outcomes for the company, clients and the community through strong leadership and good communication.

McDonald York Building Company is a 102 year old, privately-owned business located at 801 Oberlin Road in Raleigh. The company provides construction services in diverse market types including: life sciences, health care, corporate, facility improvements, office, and retail.
